APPEAL WILL BE TAKEN

From Admission to Probate of Will of Late Hannah H. Smith of North Windham.

Charles E. Smith and son, William G. Smith, of North Windham, through their attorney, Samuel B. Harvey, on Thursday gave notice that an appeal would be taken from the admission to probate of the will of Mr. Smith's wife, Mrs. Hannah H. Smith, of North Windham, who recently died at St. Joseph's hospital, this city.

It is said that the appeal will be taken on the grounds that undue influence was exerted upon the testatrix and that she was mentally incapacitated at the time.

At the time of the woman's death it was found by the will that she had left a piano, watch and $500 in money to a sister residing in Putnam, and that the husband was practically cut off with but a trifle and a few odds and ends of furniture. He, of course, objected, and at the time of the hearing on the admission of the will to probate contested the same.

The hearing lasted all day and much testimony was introduced to show Mrs. Smith had intended to leave the piano to her son and that she had been failing, physically and mentally, for quite a while before her death.

The will was admitted to probate, however, by Judge Shea, subject to the husband's statutory rights of the use of one-third of the property. Judge A. J. Bowen appeared for the executor of the will. The estate comprises two houses in North Windham, and while there is a mortgage on both the equity is said to be considerable.

TROUBLE OVER BLOCK PAVING.

Contractor Langefeld and Engineer Mitchell Dispute Over Lines—Work Proceeds, However.

The first trouble over the continuation of the block paving on Main street broke out Wednesday evening when Contractor Langefeld and City Engineer R. E. Mitchell had a run-in. Mr. Langefeld claimed that the lines were not correct in Bank street. Mr. Mitchell claimed that they were. A few words passed and were exchanged. Mr. Mitchell said that either Mr. Langefeld or he would quit the job. Mr. Langefeld maintained his ground and would not stand for what he termed total ignorance of the work on the part of Mr. Mitchell.

A conference of the street committee with Corporation Counsel Melony was held and Thursday morning another one was held and it was decided to call in outside engineers who knew something about the work and get their opinion. Civil Engineer C. E. Chandler of Norwich came up and Civil Engineer Ralph L. Wilcox of Middletown was also in town to confer with City Engineer Mitchell. The whole party, with Anderson Shepard and Te. together with Corporation Counsel Melony and Contractor Langefeld, held another conference in Mr. Melony's office, but adjourned to the street and looked over the work that was being done.

A section of the new paving near Remington's store was not to the liking of the street committee and they called the attention of all to the fact that there was a depression in the same and that it was occasioned by reason of the incorrect lines established by the engineer. He alluded to it as the worst piece of work that he had ever done and wanted to tear it up. Engineer Mitchell claimed that the lines were all right, but Mr. Langefeld was as positive that they were wrong. Mr. Chandler did not seem to have much to say, but kept reading the specifications.

Corporation Counsel Melony finally told Mr. Langefeld to go ahead with the work and adhere to the lines established by the engineer. Mr. Langefeld had ordered his men to quit work temporarily and then told them to tear it up, but later told them to go back to work.

As far as can be seen the bit of a tiff was a purely personal one between Langefeld and Mitchell and to the minds of those who have watched the proceedings from last year it is the general opinion that Langefeld knows his business and will do a good job if permitted to do so.

Funeral of Martha W. Cour.

New Company Will Probably Locate Here.

There is no doubt but that the specialty manufacturing company of Melrose will locate here, as already solicitors have been going through the village to see how much stock can be sold at once. People have been interested in it, as it will indeed mean a great deal for Mystic to have another factory located here in the village. The concern has leased the offices of the Gilbert Transportation company and has on exhibition the combination chair couch and the couch bed. It is doing a thriving business in Melrose, Mass., and employs about thirty hands and has to have a larger building in order to fill the orders that are ahead of them at the present time. L. J. Coburn, who has charge of the Melrose factory, has been in town this week, conferring with the president of the Specialty Mfg. Co., Eli Geddligh of this village, who has charge of the business of the Mystic Manufacturing company. He has taken much interest in the new factory. If the factory decides to locate here it will probably be situated in the industrial park, somewhere near the Ninigret mills and near the ball ground.
